

Gunawarman Residence

Modern Tropical Infuse

The design process begin with the idea of creating a spatial layout and atmosphere like a resort villa in Bali through the "Asta Kosala Kosali" approach where the arrangement of the two rooms or buildings are interconnected through an open area between them. The courtyard on the first floor and the connecting space linked together to illuminate and facilitate the airflow to circulate. The open living and dining room span the entire width of back area, overlooking the lush inner courtyard, while the dry kitchen connects to the side, leading to an open deck in front of the swimming pool.

Modern Tropical Infuse

Private area is situated on the second floor, consisting of bedrooms connected to each other by a semi-outdoor corridor with the operable louvre which allows maximum air circulation and can still be controlled according to needs. Each bedroom connected with its own bathroom and walk-in closet, making it practically efficient. The bedrooms are designed with a tropical touch with a tropical ceiling feature and warm wooden wall finishing.
