

COKRO HOUSE

MENTENG, JAKARTA

A celebration of tropical influenced with a classical touch, PT. Primacon Mahatama Sejahtera proudly presents “Cokro House”, a personal residence in Central Jakarta. With the intention to bring elegance into comfort, the project is a one story building designated to be used as a secondary residence as well as meeting space for the owner. The main approach was to introduce traditional Nusantara pieces and influences into a tropical modern design, shifting between the old and the new.

As you walk through the space, you are first welcomed through the guest room. Wood becomes a prominent feature of the design, with laminated wood with gold stripes add a touch of modern lines into with the classic material. Warm lighting through a crystal chandelier illuminates the space, creating a comforting ambiance to the residential space.

From the guest room, you are led to a dining area, which also acts as a meeting space if needed. The dining space is also a transitional space towards the gallery, which features a wall display of fine china. modern laser-cut wooden motifs can be seen juxtaposed by the traditional tenun fabric pieces, creating a unique mixture of new practices in art with local heritage.

The space then moves into the more private area, featuring a small family room connected to the main bedroom and children bedrooms. Modern mixed with a touch of classical themes, the bedrooms are designed to become more minimalist.
