GH PRIVATE RESIDENCE

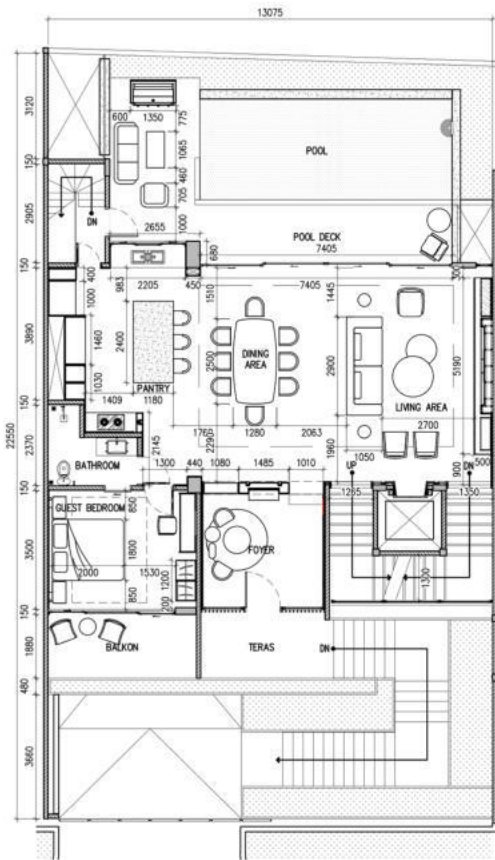

PANGLIMA POLIM, SOUTH JAKARTA, INDONESIA

The private residence is located in a quiet neighborhood, set away from the noise and traffic of the main road. The area lacks a uniform housing style, with each owner having their own personal taste.

The proposed design, based on the existing new building, aims to provide a comfortable and luxurious living experience by integrating a modern tropical residential style. This style is influenced by the natural world, focusing on comfort and relaxation through the use of neutral colors, lush greenery, and natural materials.

The design combines sophistication, comfort, and convenience to create beautiful yet functional spaces, which depicted a luxurious harmony and balance with nature. It emphasizes high-quality materials and the seamless fusion of function and aesthetics. The luxurious interior will also feature a masculine feel, represented by the use of exposed materials, bold black accents, and wood textures.
